

DR. HAROLD GELB

APRIL 3 & 4, 2009

Ottawa, Ontario, Canada

Dr. Gelb has treated 20,000+ patients for TMJ dysfunction.

Learn how to treat TMJD using the TRIAD approach for Diagnosis and Treatment of TMJ Disorders

The general practitioner as well as the specialist face temporomandibular joint problems every day. Dr. Gelb will explain the relationship between the three components of the stomatognathic apparatus namely, the jaws, the temporomandibular joints and the muscles, resulting in TMJ dysfunction. Relating the musculature of the face to other symptoms not only expands a practice but also, very often, helps a patient who has found no relief in seeking out other disciplines.

Attendees will benefit in exploring the relationship between orthopedics, orthodontics, and prosthodontics with respect to occlusion and the Cranio-mandibular articulation.

Recognize patients with TMJ disorders and know how to relate their problems to future dental care.

Learn how to treat TMJD cases in your practice from the LEADING EXPERT in TMJ disorders
